MERN Stack Developer,
React Developer,
Graphic & Web Designer

About Me

I am a React developer having working knowledge of JavaScript, Node JS and Mongo database for over 4+ years. I have also well versed with the theoretical knowledge of DevOps and use Agile methodology to develop all the products till date. Being a UI developer, I work close to my clients, analyze the requirement, analyze the feasibility and develop as per their expectation, I also follow up with the development team for data services and APIs required by the website and resolved the UI bugs logged in Bugzilla. I love working as UI developer as it gives me an immense exposure on how to reduce the user burden of data processing and how to provide an elegant website to make it simple for them to manage all this data. I am very passionate towards my work and open to learn and face challenges so that I can learn through those. I am looking forward to having a job abroad and gaining international exposure is my dream, which would be good if comes true.
